

Thomas Manning's Portfolio

This portfolio will be used as a place to highlight Thomas Manning's skills and productions on the internet.

This portfolio will connect the audience of Thomas Manning's content to his content, as well as a place for collaborators to contact Thomas and potentially begin a working relationship. The website hosts all of his work, including videos produced, websites developed, images made, and potential future projects such as video games developed or music released. This will be structured very similarly to other portfolios, but the added freedom of developing it without a service makes it stand out and further demonstrates potential skills a client could be looking for.
